

Chapter 45

District 24 – Australia (1980–2019)¹

Since 1920, Zonta International has grouped clubs by district. The following is information on the formation of District 24. Today, District 24 has 26 clubs in one state and one territory in Australia

District 24 formed from the division of the original District XVI.

District 24 Historian Joanna Quinn described the formation of District 24 in the district's History in Brief in 2016:

The current District 24 arose from two district divisions. The first was in 1990 at the Dallas convention, when District 16, which had been created in 1974 to provide a district in the Antipodes, was divided into three districts. New Zealand remained as District 16, as [the Zonta Club of] Auckland had been chartered first. Victoria, South Australia, Tasmania, Western Australia and the Northern Territory became District 23, as the [Zonta Club of] Melbourne was chartered next. New South Wales, [except for one club that belongs to District 23] Australian Capital Territory and Queensland became District 24.

The second division took place in 2008 at the convention in Rotterdam. As a result of the growth of Queensland, and to make better use of our Federal political system for advocacy purposes, Queensland split from District 24 and was allocated the district number of the disbanded South American district, District 22.

As at May 2016, District 24 had approximately 500 members in metropolitan areas and country towns with clubs that range geographically from Canberra and Berry in the south to Orange in the west and Coffs Harbor in the north.

A new club, Hunter Newcastle, was chartered in April 2014 and another in Goulburn in May 2016.

Most of the clubs in the district have always supported Zonta's international projects to a varying degree, many of them contributing a third of service funds as recommended.

Timeline of district history highlights

While the current Zonta Club of Sydney Inc., club no. 557, was chartered in 1966, there had been an early Sydney Club chartered in 1930, club no. 109.⁴ It was one of the first clubs outside of the United States and Canada and had been organized by American Zontian, Dr. Slaughter-Morton, who was married to a doctor practising in Sydney. This club at first formed part of District VII, with clubs in Texas, Colorado, California and Hawaii, however in 1931 it is listed as a non-districted club together with Hamburg, Vienna and Honolulu. Club presidents are recorded to 1934; however, the club seems to have gone out of existence in 1935 and there is no explanation of its failure.⁵

The early Australian clubs were non-districted and, as of 1970, managed as part of Zonta International Area III, the Asia-Pacific Area.

1972: In April, 13 Australian and New Zealand Zonta clubs met in Sydney for the first Area 03 Workshop and advised International President-Elect Harriette Yeckel that they were ready to form a district.

Area III Asia Pacific became Region III Asia Pacific at the Portland convention and on 2 July 1972, the Zonta International Board agreed that Region III was to be granted district status.

1974: The existence of District XVI for clubs in Australia and New Zealand was formally declared at a pre-convention meeting of the Zonta International Board in Boston in the United States. By 1974, there were 18 clubs in Region III.

1990: District 24 was established as one of the successor districts to District XVI, comprising clubs in Queensland, New South Wales (apart from club number 1227, the Zonta Club of Albury-Wodonga, which belonged to District 23), and the Australian Capital Territory.

⁴The club is first mentioned on the back cover of the August 1929 issue of The Zontian in a directory of Zonta clubs worldwide.

Growth in clubs and membership in District 24 led to the decision at the 2008 Zonta International Convention in Rotterdam to divide District 24 into two districts:

- District 22 would be for clubs in Queensland and the Zonta Club of Northern Rivers of New South Wales, because of its proximity to the Queensland border
- District 24 would be for clubs in the Australian Capital Territory and New South Wales. The Zonta Club of Albury-Wodonga, on the border of New South Wales and Victoria, had been in District 23 since 1990 and opted to remain.

2008: 27 clubs organized in three areas.

2016: 25 clubs in three areas.
